EATING FISH

Fish is one of the foods that is commonly consumed in Indonesia. You can find many stalls on the roadside selling seafood, especially at night. In addition to its distinctive and delicious taste, there are many benefits that can be found from consuming fish.

First, fish is one of the foods that are rich in protein and omega 3 fatty acids. The content of saturated fat is also low. Therefore, it is good for consumption for some one who is on a diet. In addition, the content of vitamins, minerals, and nutrients in fish is quite needed by the body to maintain health

Second, eating fish is good for brain health. One of the most beneficial ingredients in fish is omega-3 fatty acids. These nutrients are important because they maintain a healthy heart and brain. The types of omega-3 fatty acids found in fish are EPA and DHA. The body does not produce omega-3 fatty acids, so they can only be obtained through food. Some foods that contain these nutrients and are low in fat are salmon, sardines, mackerel, tuna, and oysters

Instruction

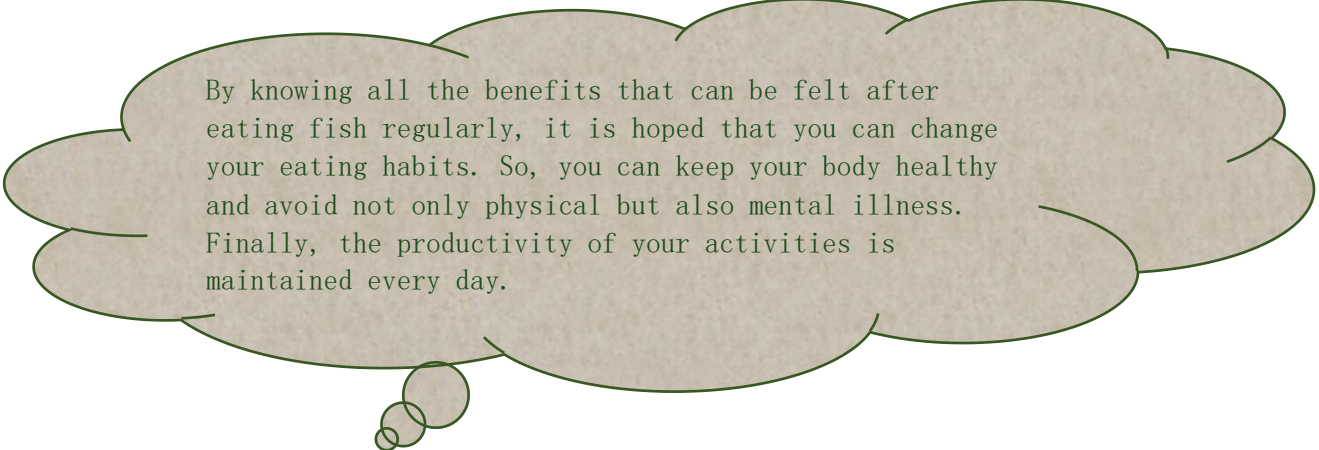

1. Work in group, observe the following paragraph.
2. Can you find the sentences using simple present tense and passive voice?
3. Write the simple present tense sentence and passive voice sentence from the paragraph.

Fish is one of the foods that is commonly consumed in Indonesia. You can find many stalls on the roadside selling seafood, especially at night. In addition to its distinctive and delicious taste, there are many benefits that can be found from consuming fish.

Simple present:

Passive voice:

By knowing all the benefits that can be felt after eating fish regularly, it is hoped that you can change your eating habits. So, you can keep your body healthy and avoid not only physical but also mental illness. Finally, the productivity of your activities is maintained every day.

Simple present:

Passive voice:

Not to mention the gusts of wind from the left or right and rain splashes from other vehicles. The volume of rainwater that enters from the gap is always increasing. It feels like a waste. You have been working extra hard against balance problems, endangering yourself and others, but your clothes are still wet. It is better to seek safety, by using a raincoat or jumpsuit that makes riding more comfortable, safe and keeps your clothes dry.

Simple present:

Passive voice:

-❖ Good Luck <❖-
